

Yucca Weekly Update

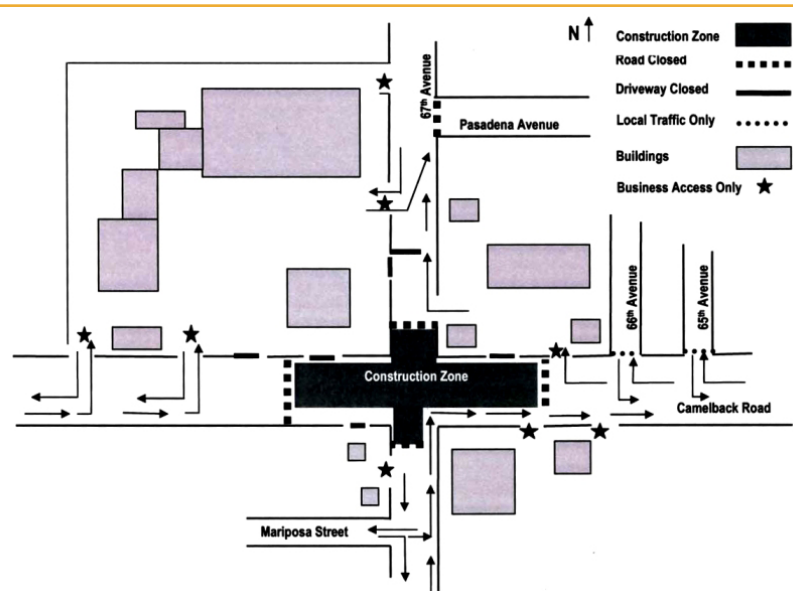

Councilmember Joyce Clark - City of Glendale, Arizona

Yucca District - where Glendale's past, present and future meet.

January 21, 2011

I recently had need of emergency septic tank work. I called a local! Whether you're searching for a service provider, shopping for food, or grabbing a quick dinner out, using Glendale businesses can help support and improve the quality of life for everyone. It helps businesses thrive, and generates tax dollars for Glendale's police, fire, emergency medical services, streets, parks, libraries and more – all funded through local sales generated by shoppers. When you spend here, your money stays here.

The pumping service I called came out the same day and solved the problem quickly and efficiently. Please call me if you need a referral!

Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission Meeting - Master Plan Update. Glendale residents are invited to attend the Glendale Parks and Recreation Advisory Commission meeting at 7 p.m., Monday, Jan. 24 at the Glendale Adult Center, 5970 W Brown St. The commission will be presented with an update on the preliminary recommendations and strategies for the updated parks and recreation master plan.

Glendale is in the process of updating the existing Parks and Recreation Master Plan. The current master plan was adopted by City Council February 2002 and since that time many changes have occurred within Glendale and the surrounding areas. The master plan identifies community priorities for recreation and park facilities along with outlining a plan of action. This meeting will provide the commission and the public additional information on the progress of the Master Plan Update.

Glendale residents' input during the planning process has been critical to help establish priorities for current and future parks and recreation services, programs and facilities offered within Glendale. For more information, click here or call Glendale Parks and Recreation at 623-930-2820.

Glendale University 101 Spring 2011 Semester. Sign up now for the Glendale University 101 spring semester! This free educational program, offered in partnership with Cox Communications, is for Glendale residents and business owners who want to learn more about the city of Glendale and how it operates. Each class highlights key functions of the city, such as police and fire, finance and budget, community services, public services and more. Classes begin on Monday, March 7 when participants will meet Glendale's Mayor and City Council. Please click here for more information about this 10-week program. The last day for registration is Feb 28.

Help Prevent Copper Thefts. Glendale's park system is taking a hit. In the last few weeks copper thieves have pulled wire out of light posts, stolen solar lighting batteries and stolen backflow preventers from city parks. These thefts have occurred at a variety of parks throughout Glendale costing the city valuable resources.

The Glendale Parks and Recreation Department is asking residents to keep an “Eagle Eye” on our parks. Park users who witness any suspicious activity are asked to call the police department at 9-1-1 or notify the Parks and Recreation Department immediately at 623-930-2820.

Please keep an eye on the type of vehicles entering parks. Only city of Glendale and Maricopa Landscape utility vehicles are allowed in parks. Other utility vehicles should be considered suspicious. Thieves will often try to misrepresent their vehicles as utility company vehicles or other service trucks.

These thefts not only cost the city money and time, they are leaving many parks without lighting, causing safety hazards and limiting park activities. Thank you for helping to prevent vandalism.

Adopt-A-Trail. The Glendale Parks and Recreation Department is inviting hikers, equestrian riders, mountain bikers and others to attend an initial meeting introducing the new Adopt-A-Trail program. This short meeting will allow potential volunteers to ask questions and help us determine the level of interest in helping to protect and maintain our trails.

Join us at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 1 in the Bobcat Room of the Foothills Recreation and Aquatics Center, 5600 W. Union Hills Dr. If you are unable to make the meeting, but are interested in participating or becoming a team leader, please call (623) 930-2639.

The program will begin with Thunderbird Conservation Park and is expected to grow to other parks and trails in Glendale's park system. Click here for more information.
